GOOD-BYE SNAIL-MAIL! BULLETIN E-DELIVERY BEGINS IN NOVEMBER

Our three-month transition from print to electronic delivery of the Bulletin ends with this issue. Starting in November, all Temple members who have provided an email address will receive the monthly Temple newsletter in their electronic inbox. The Bulletin also now is available at www.TempleCAV.org and through a link in our weekly upcoming events email on Thursdays.

Please don't miss out on Temple news! If you or other members of your household didn't receive this newsletter directly via email inbox, please let us know at office@templecav.org so we can add your email to our list. The Temple increasingly is using email to share information with our members faster and to save on costs. It's very important that we have your email address so that you're not missing out on time sensitive or essential information. Please let us know if you do not have access to email.

Please continue to share your thoughts on the new Bulletin and check out the additional information available on events, features and photos on our website. We'll soon unveil our new website, which will be more user-friendly for our members using various electronic devices. OUR MUSIC FUTURE

We are moving in a new musical direction within the congregation and are inviting you to participate in our musical future. Two decades ago, our congregation went through a music transition. We went from a professional quartet and organist at every Shabbat service to a compromise that included different musicians on different Erev Shabbat services.

There are some practical aspects to consider. First, we lost two of the regular musical offerings (Charlene Gubitz and Hazemir). Secondly, the dwindling membership we have experienced during the last 15 years and the consequent drop in Friday night attendance has made the large sanctuary an unfitting worship space for small groups. The Goldstine Chapel has proved to be more suitable for the congregation we are now, yet a professional choir with organ is no longer fitting for such smaller worship space. In sum, over the last few years, the compromise model has broken down and its usefulness vanished.

In considering any changes, it was important for me to know where our music taste will be in the next 10 years –and not only where it has been. During the last four years as your rabbi, I have had several opportunities to talk to congregants, to discuss at Ritual Committee meetings, and to assess the preferences of those who attend Shabbat services regularly. All the evidence has told me that a collaborative, participatory, and integrated model of music and tefillah (prayer) is one that will inspire those who join us on Shabbat and holidays. That is our goal.

To find the right individual to achieve that goal, the Ritual Committee and I, in consultation with the entire Board, developed a new pilot position to help us move forward. From September of this year until May of next year, Suellen Kipp will fill the position of Music Specialist (see page 7). The Music Specialist will serve as an integral member of our synagogue team and will be responsible for supporting our liturgical music needs. Suellen will be our Erev Shabbat keyboardist on a regular basis. She is a talented musician who comes to us with experience working with non-professional singers and musicians, both at churches and schools. In addition to Suellen, we will still have our beloved “Greenbergs,” as well as the occasional visiting musicians, local and regional.

Having a regular music specialist on staff will help us expand our congregants’ own role in creating music. This is a formal invitation to anyone with a love for music and a gift for creating it - vocal or instrumental - to join us in bringing joy and meaning to our weekly Shabbat tefillah experience. If you play an instrument - if you sing - we invite you to volunteer and join with us in the coming months to discover what “sound” CAV might create to lift our Shabbat celebrations even higher (just contact me directly, and we’ll get together with Suellen).

For the rest of you who might not be performance-oriented, you have an equally important role during this pilot year: Be present! Come with enthusiasm to our Shabbat services, join in all of the musical elements of our tefillah, and let us know what you experience.

I look forward to the music we share, the tefillah that inspires, and the moments of holiness we create when we join together in creative, joyful prayer.

BUILDING HISTORY ONE STORY AT A TIME

When Rabbi Emeritus Richard B. Safran visited Fort Wayne last month, he reflected on his 26 years as Achduth Vesholom's spiritual leader during an interview done as part of the Temple's efforts to chronicle the history of our congregation and Jews in Northeast Indiana.

In a wide-ranging conversation, Rabbi Safran shared his thoughts on the shift from Classical Reform to Traditional Reform when he arrived at Achduth Vesholom in 1969, as the congregation transitioned to the young rabbi after 30 years under the leadership of Rabbi Frederic Doppelt. Rabbi Safran and several other long-time members are among the first to share memories of earlier days at the Temple as we prepare for the proposed Resource Center as part of the Rifkin Campus at 5200.

"The Campus is a wonderful opportunity," said Rabbi Safran, who became Rabbi Emeritus in 1995 and now lives in Tucson. "I hope it creates a sense of unity for the Jewish community...and shows the commitment of people who care about the future."

During the first interview conducted by Rena Black with Videographer Gary Kasunic, Betty Stein, 97, talked about becoming the congregation's first female board member and first woman president. In another conversation, Leonard and Rikki Goldstein discussed Jewish life in Fort Wayne from the mid-1940s forward and talked about the planning and building of our current building. Betty Fishman recalled life at the Temple and Fort Wayne from 1948 to the present, her long and continuing role with the Art and Beautification Committee, and memories of Rabbi Doppelt and his wife, Lucille.

Resource Center Director Jan Sarratore and Eileen Baitcher helped develop the oral history questions for use with the interview subjects. They also supervised intern Madison Hincks over the summer on several projects, including research on the Honor Roll Plaque of members who served in World War II, early congregational history, and the Bezalel School of Art that influenced pieces in the Temple's collection.

Funding for the intern and the videographer came through a generous grant from the Dr. Harry W. Salon Foundation. Members are invited to contact the Temple office to be part of a History Team that will be led by Eileen Baitcher to gather information for exhibits. The Resource Center, which will include our new museum and library, will incorporate displays on local Jewish history.

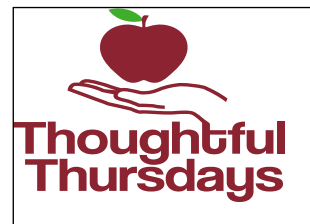

Over the summer, a group of congregants visited The History Center to meet with Curator Walter Font and Exhibitor Randy Elliot to learn more about setting up exhibits and historical displays. Led by Jan, the group included Museum Committee Co-Chair Maureen Grinsfelder, Campus Co-chairs John Stein and Sally Trotter, Architect Richard Wismer, and Program Vice President Beth Zweig.

Fundraising continues toward our goal of raising $2.25 million for the capital campaign, which is anticipated to be complete at the end of the year. Gifts made through 2014 will be tripled through matching grants from the Rifkin Family Foundation and the Madge Rothschild Foundation. A congregational meeting likely will be held in February to vote on spending monies on the Resource Center.

TOILET PAPER OVER FLOWERS...

In June after the Temple's Annual Meeting, David Seligman asked me if Thoughtful Thursdays still was in need of toilet paper donations. The simple answer was "yes." But I also shared that after four years of the Jewish community's program, toilet paper is still the number one item appreciated and requested from the more than 340 Temple Head Start families who have been part of Thoughtful Thursdays.

In early September, I got notified that a delivery was made to the Temple for Thoughtful Thursdays. I arrived to find two very large cases of toilet paper containing 192 rolls.

The joy I felt from that donation was as if someone had told me I was going to receive flowers once a month, only better! A huge thank you to D.O. McComb (David and Doug) and Sunburst Chemicals (Gary and Randy) for this extremely generous donation!

Thank you to everyone who already has purchased apples for our Apple Project to assist in providing a bag of fresh apples for all 86 Thoughtful Thursdays families. For those who donate at least $10 by Friday, October 10, your name will be included on the apple tree at the Temple. We welcome bag assembly helpers this month on Wednesdays, October 1 & 15 at 10 a.m.

Jamie Berger, Thoughtful Thursdays chair

SAFE SPACE SEMINAR OPEN TO TEMPLE MEMBERS

Members of the Temple are invited to attend a one-hour Safe Space seminar to guide attendees through LGBTQ terminology, recent events, and developing affirming ally skills as part of our effort to be a welcoming congregation. See website for more information, dates and RSVPs.

The Temple Board recently went through this training and found it a valuable experience. There is no cost to attend. Thank you to the Dr. Harry W. Salon Foundation. The program is led by Q Consulting (www.qcanded.org). Contact Jan Sarratore with questions.

MINYAN KATAN – Students in fifth grade and younger are invited on Yom Kippur for special holiday programming at 10 a.m. with their parents. Storyteller Allen Haynes will share special tales with the children.

YOUTH NEWS

Religious School students go “green” in learning yarok the Hebrew Word of the Week. Lessons also incorporated Shomrei Adamah, this year’s school theme meaning “Keepers of the Earth.” A new Hebrew word will be featured each week on our website and Facebook page.

FORTY’s annual Car Wash in September raised $250 for youth group programs. The high school youth group, which includes kids from Achduth Vesholom and B’nai Jacob, met for lunch and planned events for the year. FORTY continued its tradition of serving apples and honey after the Rosh Hashanah morning service.

GOING GREEN IN THE TEMPLE LIBRARY

The Temple Library has some new “green” books to share with you. In conjunction with the Religious School’s push to help the environment, we have acquired several new environmentally-oriented titles. To start, we have Low Carbon Diet by David Gershon, recommended by Hoosier Interfaith Power and Light with whom we are partnering for our Religious School program. Both that title and Simple Actions for Jews to Help Green the Planet by Rabbi Dov Elkins are books designed to help you take action. If you’re interested in inspiration from Jewish writings and theology, we also have several books for you. Visit the website to learn about Friends of The Library.

Betsy Gephart, Library Committee chair

SHABBAT KATAN FOR LITTLE ONES

Children in first grade and younger and their families are invited on Friday, October 10 at 6:15 p.m. for Shabbat Katan (formerly known as PJ Shabbat). Our evening includes a Sukkot celebration with family-style potluck dinner and crafts. We’ll visit the Temple sukkah if weather permits. Stay up to date on Shabbat Katan programs by contacting the Temple office to be added to our email list.

Students got a lesson on the first day of class about g’milut chasadim (acts of loving kindness) from Temple member Deborah Worpell, who brought Shannon, a yellow Labrador. She and her husband Michael are training Shannon through Leader Dogs for the Blind. Find out more on our Member Spotlight page at www.templecav.org

Our Junior Youth Group for students in grades 6-8 bowled a perfect game in September for Wellspring Interfaith Social Services, raising more than $600 for the organization through their participation in a fundraiser to help Wellspring serve central city families in Fort Wayne.

PLEASE WELCOME OUR NEW MEMBERS

Three new families have joined the Temple:

- Jared & Andrea Haller recently moved to Fort Wayne from Indianapolis, their home for over 13 years. They previously lived in San Francisco, where Andrea trained as a neurologist. Jared went to Law School in Indianapolis and became a Public Defender at the Marion County Public Defender Agency. Their 12 year-old son, Samuel (Sam), attends The Canterbury School and will become a Bar Mitzvah in 2015. Andrea will be working for the Fort Wayne Neurological Center.
- Scott & Kristin Goldberg have been married nearly four years and have a 3-year-old son Samuel. Kristin says they live in the middle of a cornfield (literally) near Montpelier. Scott is a scrap metal dealer for his family's company, Hartford Iron and Metal. Kristin is an accountant for Community Hospital in Anderson and Samuel attends preschool at Anderson University. The Goldbergs also are members of Temple Beth-El in Muncie, where she is involved with Sisterhood and Hadassah and he formerly served on the board. They said they joined Achduth Vesholom for Religious School so Sam can socialize with other Jewish children.
- Yavin Bamnolkar & Yady Granados Guerrero – Originally from Mumbai, India, Yavin has worked for the past 12 years for Serco Global Services managing operations and being involved in consulting assignments. Yady, a graphic designer, was born and raised in Cali, Colombia. As Yavin tells it, they met online, "started chatting, one thing led to another, and we fell in love and decided to get married." They wed in March 2012 in India and moved to the U.S. in June 2012 through his job. They initially lived in New Jersey and later moved to Fort Wayne for Yavin's work with a client here. Yavin was born and raised as a Jew in Mumbai (and will tell you an interesting story about the history of Jews in India). Yady grew up Catholic and is studying toward conversion with Rabbi Cattapan.

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Fall is my favorite time of year for many reasons. In addition to the changing leaves, start of football season, and cooler days and nights, I look forward to welcoming a new Jewish year! For me, the 10 days of repentance after the beginning of a New Year are spent in thoughtful reflection and with prayers for forgiveness.

Yom Kippur, the holiest day of the year for the Jewish people, is always a time for me to ask for forgiveness and through my actions on this day I feel rejuvenated for the coming months. Then we celebrate the harvest festival, or, as we call it in Israel, Chag Haasif (חג האסיף) also known as Sukkot and Simchat Torah.

To add to all the festivities, we also have our biggest fundraiser of the year on Thursday, October 30. The Corned Beef on Rye – Sure to Satisfy Fundraiser, now in its 13th year, has been a Temple celebration and, in my opinion, one of the largest gathering, socializing and working together times at Temple. I'm told that the early organizers of our Deli Day never predicted that the sale would have such an impact on the membership through building friendships and attracting everyone from our youth groups to seniors.

Our Corned Beef fundraiser brings together the entire congregation for two days of preparations. The level of commitment and passion is contagious.

I love the member interactions during our evenings of preparation! The sound of conversation and laughter. The sight of the kitchen filled with smiling faces working together toward a common goal. Each volunteer learns his/her part in the process and a feeling of Kehillah (community) can be felt.

It's also great fun to hear people around the city talk about looking forward to this annual treat. This year, I'm pleased to tell them that for the first time they can extend the delicious flavors of the day by ordering in bulk. Extra corned beef, bread, pickles, and brownies will be available on the order form.

As we prepare for this exciting event, I'm asking for your continued support in any way you feel comfortable. Be a sponsor, promoter, customer -- or part of the preparation group, such as a sandwich artist, or a pickle packer.

Thank you to our Corned Beef Chairs Kris Gray, Melissa Kessel, and Bonnie Pomerantz and to those who have volunteered their time this year and in the past to make this fundraiser successful. Happy New Year! L'shana Tovah!
