MAKING A CONNECTION BETWEEN GENERATIONS

Among all the societies where Jews have lived, America has been least conducive to maintaining a sense of the past. A building from 30 years ago can be a historic landmark; kitchenware from 40 years ago qualifies as antique. Objects from the past are allowed to have a fashionable revival, but ideas, stories, and concepts from the past are considered outmoded.

Most Jews who came to America were happy to forget the old country and move forward in the new land. But what has been good for Jews as individuals has often not been good for Judaism. Abraham Joshua Heschel wrote:

Without solidarity with our fathers, the solidarity with our brothers will remain feeble. The vertical unity of Jews as a nation is essential to the horizontal unity of the Jewish people as a whole. Survival of Israel means that we carry on our independent dialogue with the past. By treating lightly that which has been created throughout the ages, we can easily forfeit that which is spiritually reliable.

There is a special Shabbat called Shabbat Tesuvah that falls between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. These are times for remembering. Rosh Hashanah is also known by the name Yom Ha-Zikaron, the Day of Remembrance — as is often repeated in the Mahzor, a day of asking God to remember, to record us in the book of life. Yom Kippur is also connected with remembrance — among other reasons, because of Yizkor, the memorial prayer for the dead.

Yet Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur do not substitute for “asking our elders and they shall declare it to you.” Younger generations need to seek the teachings of Judaism from older generations; older generations need to tell their teachings to the younger. In order for this to work, elders need to overcome any preconceptions that the young are not interested, and the young need to overcome any preconceptions that the elders are not interesting. Elders who feel that they themselves have not received enough stories and traditions to transmit can encourage their young people seek out people and books from whom they can learn.

The High Holy Days do not do their work if we limit ourselves to personal introspection. These days can only be effective for Jews as a people if we seek what Heschel called the vertical unity of Israel — the connection with those who have come before us. Judaism cannot be stuck in the past, but neither can it discard it. Tomorrow makes sense only in the context of yesterday. Amen.

Oneg Shabbat Hosts Needed - We're currently scheduling hosts to provide refreshments on Friday evenings after our Shabbat service. Please offer your help by contacting Oneg Shabbat Coordinator Leah Hadashi at l.hadashi@hotmail.com.

THOUGHTFUL THURSDAYS' APPLE PROJECT RETURNS

Many of the 72 children who attend Brightpoint Head Start at the Temple rarely have the opportunity to eat fresh fruits and vegetables. For a sixth year, the Jewish community's Thoughtful Thursdays team would like to provide each of our families with a bag of apples. A tree is on display at the Temple with paper apples featuring the name of each person who donates $10 or more for the apple project by Friday, October 14. (Checks maybe made out to “CAV-The Temple” earmarked for the Thoughtful Thursdays Apple Project.)

The Thoughtful Thursdays team on Opening Day

JOIN OUR BAG ASSEMBLY TEAM

The Jewish community's Thoughtful Thursdays volunteers will meet on Wednesday, October 5 at 10 a.m. to assemble October bags for our Brightpoint Head Start families. Contact Jamie Berger to learn more at jberger02@comcast.net.

TALMUD CLASS BEGINNING IN NOVEMBER

If the Bible is the cornerstone of Judaism, then Talmud is the central pillar. The Bible gives us Jewish concepts. The Talmud defines how to apply those concepts within any particular context.

Please join Rabbi Lenny for a new weekly Talmud Class beginning on Tuesday, November 1 at 7 p.m. at the Temple when we discuss how the concepts in the Talmud apply today in Fort Wayne and are relevant in our personal lives.

There is no charge for congregants for the class. Unlike most learning topics, if you need to miss a few weeks, it will not affect your ability to participate and understand. If you have any questions or are interested in participating, please contact Rabbi Lenny at (260) 744-4245 or rabbi@templecav.org.

HIGH HOLIDAYS

BREAKING THE FAST TOGETHER

We'll break the fast together as a congregation with a delicious meal prepared by the Temple ROMEs (Retired Old Men Eating Out). Following the Ne'ilah service on Yom Kippur at about 6 p.m., everyone is invited for tuna salad, egg salad, noodle kugel, bagels, herring in sour cream, blintzes, and other delicacies. Plan to join us on Wednesday, October 12 for this special opportunity to build community.

Reservations are required by Wednesday, October 5 so that we can prepare enough food and seating. Thanks to the generosity of the ROMEs, there is no charge. However, cash donations gladly will be accepted to help offset costs. Volunteers are needed to help with set-up and other tasks. Please contact the Temple office to offer your assistance. If you would like to sponsor the sweet wine for our Kiddush, please let us know. Thanks to Rich Manalis and Chuck Replane for co-chairing the Break-the-Fast.

HELP THE HUNGRY with a donation to MAZON: A Jewish Response to Hunger. Find out more at www.mazon.org. Contribution envelopes are available at the Temple.

SUPPORT HIGH HOLIDAY FOOD DRIVE

On Rosh Hashanah, please pick up paper shopping bags at the Temple. Fill them with non-perishable food items for local families to return on Yom Kippur. Please consider bringing in at least one bag of food for each member of your family. Donations will go to Wellspring Interfaith Social Services. The Temple is one of the 16 supporting congregations. Thank you to Jamie Berger for coordinating.

REMEMBERING YOUR LOVED ONES

Please let us know by Wednesday, October 5 if you wish to have a loved one's name included on Wednesday, October 12 during the Memorial Service on Yom Kippur. Call us or email at office@templecav.org. We'll also dedicate yearzeit plaques added during the past year.

ARE YOU JEWISH AND IN YOUR 20S OR 30S?

A new group is forming for Jews in their 20s and 30s for social, educational, and volunteer activities. Add your name to the sign-up sheet at the Rosh Hashanah Reception on Sunday, October 2 following our 8 p.m. service. The group will gather at the Break-the-Fast on Wednesday, October 12 for introductions to get the ball rolling and brainstorm a few ideas for the year. For more information, contact the Temple office at office@templecav.org. Thank you to Wendy Soltz for coordinating.

CELEBRATE SUKKOT WITH DINNER AND A MOVIE

Come and celebrate Sukkot with us on Saturday, October 22 by eating in the sukkah and watching the award-winning Israeli film "Ushpizin." Please bring your family and friends for dinner at 6 p.m. and the movie at 7 p.m. – and also shake the lulav and inhale the lovely scent of the etrog.

This heartwarming film is set in Jerusalem and tells a story about a childless couple who live in a cramped apartment with very little money. When unexpected guests arrive, the stress on the relationship gets even more intense. The word, "ushpizin" means "guests" in Aramaic and it is a mitzvah during Sukkot to invite guests. Find the movie trailer.

Our "Pizza in the Hut" dinner includes pizza by the slice ($2) and salad ($3). We'll also have soda, beer, and water, as well as movie-style candy for purchase. Please make a reservation by Friday, October 14 to the Temple office at 744-4245. Can't make it for dinner? Join us for the film at no charge. Thanks to Adult Education Chair Wendy Soltz for chairing the event.

COMPLETE THE CYCLE AND BEGIN ANEW ON SIMCHAT TORAH

Nothing quite compares to Simchat Torah when we parade the scrolls through the Sanctuary, enjoy festive singing and flag waving, and complete the reading of the Book of Deuteronomy while also beginning the Book of Genesis. The celebration on Friday, October 28 at 7 p.m. An Oneg Shabbat follows.

YOUTH NEWS

FAMILY SERVICE OFFERS SHABBAT INTRO

Our Shabbat Katan family service starts the new year on Friday, October 7 at 6 p.m. led by Rabbi Lenny. This fun service geared toward children will offer an introduction to Shabbat with prayers and music. Adults are welcome, too. Thanks to Samara Sheray for coordinating the program. Contact us at office@templecav.org with your email address and phone number to be added to our Shabbat Katan group.

HELP DECORATE THE SUKKAH

Bring your decorating talents to the Temple on Sunday, October 16 from 10 a.m. to noon to help our Religious School students festoon the congregational sukkah with color and flair.

FOURTY, our high school youth group, washed cars on a beautiful fall morning and planned for the year ahead. They raised $237 for youth programs. Thanks to all who supported their efforts!

CHILDREN AND HOLIDAY SERVICES

Children are welcome to attend our High Holy Days services with their families. We also offer child care at no charge during evening and morning services on Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

Kindly make a reservation for Rosh Hashanah and let us know by Wednesday, October 5 for Yom Kippur by calling the Temple office at (260) 744-4245. Child care will be open beginning 15 minutes prior to the service. If you find that your child needs a break during the service, we understand. Please bring him or her to the Goldstine Chapel for activities so that you can return to the Sanctuary.

Our opening day assembly for Religious School included a shofar blowing lesson from Rabbi Lenny and a chance to get acquainted to start the new school year.

FIRST DAY OF RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Rabbi Lenny and Rabbi Kornspan led the rededication ceremony on August 28 for the Fort Wayne Jewish Cemetery following restoration of 61 headstones toppled or damaged by vandals earlier this year. Stones of remembrance were distributed to attendees to place on graves throughout the cemetery. Cemetery Association President Dan Zweig also thanked the community for its donations to support the cemetery's future.

Volunteers prepare the corned beef fundraising mailing.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR DELI DAY!

We need your help to support our biggest fundraiser of the year – our 15th annual Corned Beef Sale! Volunteers are needed on Wednesday, November 2 for Corned Beef Prep Night from 6 to 9 p.m. and on Thursday, November 3, with shifts beginning at 9 a.m. We also need delivery drivers on the morning of the sale. Contact the Temple office to say you'll help.

Whether you're new to our sale or a veteran member of the Corned Beef Crew, we can use your help on what is one of the most fun nights of the year at the Temple. This is a wonderful opportunity to get acquainted with lots of people and help us raise money to support activities year-round.

On Prep Night, jobs include filling cups of cole slaw, portioning the meat, bagging pickles, cutting brownies, preparing packets with napkins, sponsor lists, and other items. On the morning of the sale, we assemble sandwiches, fill orders, greet customers, deliver orders, and more.

Museum Consultant Marcia Z. MacRae reviews proposed displays for the Madge Rothschild Resource Center with the committee.

HARD AT WORK ON THE RESOURCE CENTER

Moving forward with our vision while still waiting for the Madge Rothschild Resource Center to be completed. That's the short answer on what's happening with our addition.

A year ago we began building the MRRC on the west side of our building. Truth to tell, we expected construction and occupancy to have been completed by now. But some construction delays and problems have caused this phase to drag on and, at this date, we still do not have the actual expected completion date.

At the same time, you'll notice that the plastic that covered the entrance is down and the view when you come through the front door of the Temple offers a glimpse of the exciting days ahead.

The MRRC Committee has not been deterred from discussing and planning programs for the coming year even though we still do not know when we can count on our new space being ready.

Events are on the calendar and we are hoping to be ready to host them in the new building addition.

Our museum consultant worked with us this past weekend on displays and exhibits, while our history team continues to gather stories on Jewish life in Northeast Indiana. Our library crew is eager to put books on the shelves, including new titles donated through Betty's 100 Books.

In the meantime, what do we hope that you will do? Continue to be patient, but feel free to ask us when, when, when? We have postponed the grand opening from this fall to next spring. As my grandfather used to consul me, patience is a virtue.

HOOSIER JEWISH LEGENDS

Mazel tov to Len on being named to the inaugural Hoosier Jewish Legends – A Hall of Fame by the Indiana Jewish Historical Society as part of the Indiana Bicentennial. He and other recipients will be recognized at a luncheon on Sunday, October 23 at noon at Broadmoor Country Club in Indianapolis during the IJHS annual meeting. Their contributions to the community were highlighted in The News-Sentinel.

Mazel tov also to Temple members Marnie & Mark Lowden and her children, Leo and Iris Powell, on the induction of her grandparents and their great-grandparents Martin & Helen Schwartz of Muncie into the Hoosier Jewish Legends Hall of Fame. Born in Fort Wayne, Martin moved to Muncie as a child and later took over the family business, Schwartz Paper Company, in Muncie. Martin, 99, and Helen, who died nine years ago, were philanthropists and very involved at the synagogue in Muncie.

SATISFY YOUR HUNGER WITH THESE NEW BOOKS!

It is perhaps cruel to feature food books when we are preparing for our Yom Kippur fast, but we have three delicious-looking new titles to share with you when the library opens. All three were donated as part of “Betty’s 100 Books.” and there are more yummy-looking cookbooks on the list if you haven’t yet picked out a title.

The first, and most well-known of the three, is Michael Solomonov’s Zahav: A World of Israeli Cooking. Born in Israel, the author is the well-known owner of the Zahav restaurant in Philadelphia. Not only is the cookbook full of Israeli recipes, it also includes family stories, information about Middle Eastern ingredients, and lots of gorgeous pictures. If you haven’t yet seen it, check the Temple’s Facebook page for a video of the author making hummus.

Ted Merwin’s Pastrami on Rye claims to be the “first full-length history of the New York Jewish deli.” Starting in Eastern Europe, the book traces the history of the delicatessen through the decades of the twentieth century to the present-day. This wonderful paragraph from the book’s Introduction explains part of Merwin’s inspiration for the book:

I grew up at a time when the deli had long since ceased to function as a major gathering place for the Jewish community, when, even in Great Neck, it was J.P. King’s, the Chinese restaurant on Grace Avenue, that was a more popular hangout spot than Squire’s [the local deli]. But the deli sandwiches remain more salient in my memory than the moo shu pork or the beef lo mein at the Chinese eatery; they connected me to my people and to my past in a way that the Chinese dishes, however delicious, never could.

“The knish situation in Brooklyn is not what it once was.” So begins Knish: In Search of the Jewish Soul Food by Laura Silver. After the closing of her favorite knish shop, the author began a quest for the history of her favorite food. Writing in wonderfully clever vernacular, Ms. Silver includes knish stories from around the world, along with cultural appearances – gangsta rap, no less! – and a chapter about knish eating. The book concludes with a recipe from the beloved knish shop, and a short list of “where to get a good knish.” (Answer: Zingerman’s in Ann Arbor.)

If we’ve whetted your appetite, all three books will be waiting for you in the library!

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Corned beef, pastrami, salami. All favorites! I can hardly wait each year when one of my family members continues the tradition of driving to Indianapolis to pick up several pounds of deli delights to bring home for a memorable spread to celebrate the end of the High Holy Days with our relatives. I only wish we could purchase the goodies regularly in Fort Wayne.

I'm clearly a big fan of the Temple's annual Corned Beef on Rye – Sure to Satisfy Fundraiser, now in its 15th year and our largest fundraiser. I'll enjoy the wonderful aroma of dill pickles and corned beef when our sale returns on Thursday, November 3 and look forward to tasting those special treats.

My friends and business associates already know this is the magical day of the year to get a corned beef lunch locally that can't be beat. Each meal includes a heaping corned beef sandwich, creamy cole slaw, giant dill pickle, fudgy brownie, and a drink. I remind them that we offer dine in, carry out, or delivery.

As you know, sponsorships are very important for our bottom line. We welcome your support in this way and ask you to encourage others to do the same. For a donation of $100 or more, we'll include the names of individuals and businesses with each meal and on our website. We had a record number of sponsors last year and hope to do even better this year.

What also makes the fundraiser special is the huge turnout of volunteers. Some 100 volunteers usually come on Corned Beef Prep Night (this year on Wednesday, November 2 from 6 to 9 p.m.) and/or on sale day to help out. It's a great opportunity to meet others in our Temple family. We also had two dozen volunteers help in August to prepare a large mailing for the sale.

Thanks so much to Larry Adelman, Steve Zacher and Jaki Schreier for chairing this year's effort. The committee has an even a larger challenge this year as the cost of corned beef has increased.

Congregants who have volunteered and/or supported the fundraiser as a sponsor or purchased sandwiches are indispensable. We appreciate your continued involvement. We need you to help us continue to grow the fundraiser, which is so vital to keeping the Temple on firm financial footing.

As we begin the New Year 5777, thank you for your support of Achduth Vesholom and your participation in Temple life. Leslie, our sons and I wish you a L'shana Tovah! I look forward to seeing you soon!
