WHAT'S NEW WITH THE RESOURCE CENTER?

Madge Rothschild Resource Center...onward and upward!

Well, to be accurate, we are already as upward as the building will go, but a number of things have kept us moving only slowly onward. Our completion date has slid gradually backward from mid-spring to early summer and now to the end of August. What's holding us up? Well, we still are waiting for the base to be poured for the outdoor courtyard/sculpture garden. Within the next month, the audio/visual equipment will be installed and a small group of Temple members will be trained on how to use it.

Furniture has been ordered and will show up in 4 to 6 weeks. If we still do not have our occupancy permit by the time it arrives, the furniture will be held locally so that it can be installed pronto when we are ready for it. And we are waiting for shades, carpet and tiles plus some final painting on the interior.

Outside we have had the heaps of dirt leveled, but landscaping is yet to come. More concrete is coming, as we will pour a sidewalk that will run along the whole length of the addition and, at the same time, add a sidewalk that leads to the play area. Along the rear of the resource center, we are still waiting for a 3-foot awning to be installed to shield us from the setting sun.

But, of greatest importance and our most important delay, we are still waiting for the installation of the limestone panels that will clad the exterior walls of the building. Some of you may have assumed that we had struck a deal with Tyvek to advertise for them but no, their name will disappear when the panels go up.

So, as you see, onward at a pace slower than we had hoped for but soon, in the overall scheme of things, we will be ready to put library books on shelves and add museum displays. (Learn about plans for the Library on page 6.)

Until then...patience.

THOUGHTFUL THURSDAYS' APPLE PROJECT RETURNS TO PROVIDE FRESH FRUIT

Many of the 72 children who attend Brightpoint Head Start at the Temple rarely have the opportunity to eat fresh fruits and vegetables. For a sixth year, the Jewish community's Thoughtful Thursdays team would like to provide each of our families with a bag of apples. A tree will be on display at the Temple that will be decorated with paper apples featuring the name of each person who donates $10 or more for the apple project by Friday, October 14. Help celebrate the High Holy Days by assisting in this special way! (Checks maybe made out to "CAV-The Temple" earmarked for the Thoughtful Thursdays Apple Project.)

In addition, we're collecting items for first-aid kits. Donations are needed of band-aids, bandages and dressings, cold packs, antibiotic creams or ointments, alcohol wipes, and ChapStick lip balm. Please drop items at the Temple. Thank you! Plan to join our team on Wednesday, September 7 at 10 a.m. when we assemble the first bag of the school year. Contact Jamie Berger to learn more at jberger02@comcast.net.

MAKING MEANING THROUGH LEARNING

The greatest difference between the book of Devarim, which we begin this month, and the other four books of the Torah is the switch in modality. This book begins as Moshe recounts events for which his present audience has no personal memory of the receipt of the Torah. They did not stand at Sinai, did not see the mountain ablaze, and did not hear God speak out of the fire. The Covenant at Sinai was made with their ancestors, men and women who had just emerged from the experience of slavery and redemption. This audience is a new generation, tasked with the challenges of transitioning from a nomadic people to a nation that builds cities and cultivates a system of agriculture.

Moshe—the man who described himself as “slow of speech and slow of tongue” having “never been a man of words (devarim)” -- begins the book with words (devarim). Indeed, the entire book constitutes one powerful and sustained verbal presentation.

Moshe’s goals in this book remain our religious challenges: How do you render a story that happened to other people and make it your story, as meaningful to you as the day it occurred? How do you tell the story of our people’s relationship with God and move a new generation to willfully and passionately enter into this sacred Covenant? These same questions are significant to us today!

I suggest that the book of Devarim adopts a unique path for the renewal of the Covenant. No form of the Hebrew root l-m-d (to learn, study, or teach) appears in any book of the Torah other than Devarim, where it appears 17 times in 34 chapters. The experience of learning and teaching is central to Devarim. This verb is used in connection to God teaching the Israelites, Moshe teaching the nation and, perhaps most critically, the Israelites themselves teaching Torah—“Impress My words upon your heart . . . and teach them to your children—reciting them when you stay at home and when you are away, when you lie down and when you get up,” a line that has also become part of our shema prayer.

Limud (learning) constitutes the process through which we Jews connect with our history and make these historical stories our personal narratives. Understood in these terms, learning is not simply a means to acquire information. Rather, for the Jew, learning is an active process that is primarily about making meaning. The book of Devarim makes very clear that if we -- in our generation -- are to develop a personal, rich, and nurturing relationship with God, we must learn and study God’s Torah. Study is the means by which we make meaning in our own lives and it is an activity whereby the Jew responds thoughtfully to the challenges of our particular age.

I submit that Moshe’s strength and newfound confidence emerged from his deep belief that he had finally found the path for real religious awakening. The thunder and direct experience of God at Sinai did not work even for the generation of the desert.

The book of Devarim creates the possibility that if God’s Presence is to be made manifest in our world, it will be in the words (devarim) of those who pursue with love this religion we call Judaism. Amen.

SHABBAT SERVICES AT THE TEMPLE...

...A Note from Rabbi Lenny

Jewish services, historically, have always been composed of at least three parts - the Shema, the Tefilah and, if it is the right day, Torah. Although it has not been the custom here at the Temple to do regular Torah readings on Shabbat, I believe it is important and needs to be part of what we do. Congregants will have the opportunity to hear at least a few verses at every Shabbat service I lead. Therefore, we will read from the scrolls both Friday night and Saturday morning.

Although it has not been a custom to do services on Saturday unless it is a Bar/Bat Mitzvah, I would like to try to do them every week. There are times when people cannot make it on Friday night. They do not wish to drive at night, they have a conflict and cannot make it to the Temple on time, or any number of other reasons that do not allow them to come on a Friday night a second opportunity to come to avail themselves of Shabbat services. Our Saturday morning services will always begin at 10 a.m.

A few extra notes – even though we do read Torah, our services should be in the range of 75 minutes. It will never approach what a more traditional service would typically use for time. I also encourage both participation (including children that attend) and dialogue with congregants during services.

I look forward to developing these services into a form that will be best for our community and welcome input from you at any time.

Thanks and Shalom,
Rabbi Lenny

SUPPORT THE TEMPLE WITH A HIGH HOLY DAYS DONATION

Remember a loved one or celebrate a special occasion during the High Holy Days with a gift to the Floral Fund

(to help purchase beautiful bimah flowers for holidays and other occasions) or to the Temple’s General Operations. Donors who make a gift of $54 or more by Friday, September 23 will be listed along with their honoree or occasion in a special program distributed at services during the High Holy Days. (Checks should be made out to “CAV-The Temple” and indicate if your donation is for the Floral Fund or General Operations.)

NEWS FROM THE 168TH ANNUAL MEETING IN JUNE

President Joe Cohen shared highlights of the past year with the congregation in June, including the successful search for a new Rabbi and the construction of the Madge Rothschild Resource Center.

In addition, he said, we had an excellent year of Religious School as we transitioned to a new administrative structure. Our Holocaust Education Committee offered several outstanding programs, including a recent seminar for future teachers on how to teach about the Holocaust that brought numerous experts to the community. The Temple gardens are getting a makeover and we have a new Temple Gardens Fund. And our 14th annual Corned Beef Fundraiser was our best yet with number of sponsors and largest profit of $15,600.

Joe added that we will give the William Brosler Award for Outstanding Volunteerism at a later date when the award plaque will be enlarged and moved to the Resource Center hallway. He also thanked Rabbi Cattapan for his six years of service to the congregation as he ended his tenure with us.

Finances

Bruce Warshauer, Finance Vice President, gave an update on congregational finances and the work of the Financial Planning Working Group. He also highlighted steps taken by the board to improve investment returns.

Treasurer Irv Adler reported that the leadership was very cognizant of the need to continue to reduce the projected 2015-2016 fiscal year deficit of $10,700. Through continued tight budget control, delayed spending and some positive cash impacts, Irv said he anticipated a year-end surplus.

The congregation approved the budget for 2016-2017 as presented with an anticipated deficit of $4,530. Irv said that in addition to the 2016-2017 budget, we made preliminary budget estimates for the following two fiscal years to better anticipate our future cash needs. Our analysis, he said, indicates that although some further cost reductions may be possible, income generation needs to play a major role to reduce projected deficits.

Landscapers put the finishing touches on the beautiful new garden with native plants in front of the Temple.

New officers and trustees were installed after the Annual Meeting by Rabbi Cattapan.

New Board Elected for 2016-2017

Officers and trustees were elected at the Annual Meeting for the new fiscal year beginning July 1:

Officers: President Joe Cohen is beginning the second year of a two-year term. Elected to one-year terms: VP Programs Beth Zweig, VP Finance Steve Zacher, Treasurer Irv Adler, and Secretary Ronnie Greenberg.

Trustees Elected: Talia Bugel, Steve Carr, Elissa Cohen, Scott Goldberg, Leah Hadashi, and Richard Manalis. (All elected to a two-year term ending June 2018)

Trustees Who Were Not Up for Re-election: Betsy Gephart, Leonard Goldstein, Yoko Rudolph, Mike Rush, Kathy Sider, and Ellen Tom (All serving a two-year term ending June 2017)

At the Annual Meeting, we also thanked outgoing officers Bruce Warshauer (VP Finance) and Hod Hefer (Immediate Past President) and trustees Matthew Katinsky and Jan Sarratore for their service to the congregation.

At the end of our Shavuot service in June, members of the Temple's former Hazemir Choir joined with Rabbi Cattapan and Kris Gray for a final collaboration, singing Tefillat Haderech (May we be blessed as we go on our way...). The congregation presented Rabbi Cattapan and Kris with a menorah for their collection as we said thank you for Rabbi's six years as our spiritual leader and for their contributions to the Temple.

EXCITING PLANS FOR NEW LIBRARY

As the library team looks forward to moving into our new space in the Madge Rothschild Resource Center, here's a brief preview of what you'll find there once we open.

For starters, our collection is being updated, not only by donations and new materials (including Betty's 100 Books), but also by the addition of the Fort Wayne Jewish Federation's collection. This will add a significant number of DVDs to our library, as well as a number of additional books.

Beyond the new shelving for our collections, you will find a specially-designed story pit for use with our younger readers. This space will be equipped with a video screen that can be used for educational purposes during Religious School and beyond. At the librarian's desk, expect to see two computer terminals – one for the librarian and one for patron use.

Our catalog is online and can be accessed from any "smart" device, but a terminal will be provided for that purpose as well. A workroom near the librarian's desk will house low-demand items from our collection, as well as supplies and additional workspace. And finally, we look forward to a "small but mighty" addition to our new facility, a book return slot which will be accessible from the hall outside the library!

If all of this piques your interest, we'd love to have your help. Donations of books are welcome through "Betty's 100 Books" in honor of Betty Stein's 100th Birthday. We also would love to recycle any gently used DVDs or audio CDs you might have, both music and audio books. Jewish games in good condition would also be a welcome addition, as would donations to either of the two funds which we rely on to support our collection – the Library Fund and the Himelstein Children's Library Fund.

Beyond material support, we can definitely use volunteers to help us move into our new space, staff the library, write book reviews, and help with displays. We look forward to providing more library hours once we open in our new space. Volunteer staff will definitely help us do this. If you are interested in helping out, please contact Betsy Gephart at library@templecav.org. We look forward to opening soon in our new location!

COUNTDOWN TO BETTY'S 100 BOOKS

We've added 12 new books to the Temple library toward our goal of Betty's 100 Books in time for Betty Stein's 100th birthday on December 10! Thank you to:

JEWISH COMMUNITY INVITED TO REDEDICATION OF CEMETERY

A rededication of the Fort Wayne Jewish Cemetery will be held on Sunday, August 28 at 2 p.m. to reconsecrate the burial ground following completion of repairs to 60 headstones that were toppled earlier this year by vandals.

The Jewish community is invited to the service at the cemetery, 6224 Decatur Road, led by Rabbi Lenny Sarko and Rabbi Mitchell Kornspan. A reception follows at the Rifkin Campus at 5200, where the Fort Wayne Jewish Cemetery Association is headquartered. Founded in 1912, the cemetery is not affiliated with a congregation.

The history team from the Madge Rothschild Resource Center will be available at the reception for gathering family stories about Jewish life in Fort Wayne.

Please RSVP by Monday, August 22 to fjewishcemetery@gmail.com if you plan to attend the reception so that we can plan for refreshments.

Donations for security improvements and to ensure the long-term financial stability of the cemetery may be made payable to "Jewish Federation of Fort Wayne" with "Jewish Cemetery" in the memo line to 5200 Old Mill Road, Fort Wayne, 46807. To donate securities, please contact the cemetery association at fjewishcemetery@gmail.com or the Federation at (260) 456-0400.

THANKS TO ROMEO'S AND JULIETS FOR VERY SUCCESSFUL PASTA FUNDRAISER!

We're grateful to our sponsors: Alan Cooperman, Leonard Goldstein, Marv Gottlieb, Norm Greenberg, Sherwin Kepes, Jane Martin, Leonard Mastbaum, Tom O'Neill, Mike Rush, Stephen Trotter, Kay Safirstein, and Ceruti's Catering.

Thanks to all the mates of the ROMEOs who so generously contributed their time and baked goods. And a special thank you to the Babes of the Book Book Club for pitching in even more goodies when it appeared we would not have enough for the sell-out crowd. We did have enough! Micki Kepes and Sally Trotter helped set up and Ronnie Greenberg, Janet Katz, and Carol Adelman assisted with tear down. Enormous thanks to everyone who helped!

MAZEL TOV TO:

ONEG SHABBAT COORDINATOR & HOSTS NEEDED

We're looking for an Oneg Shabbat Coordinator to schedule hosts to provide goodies on Friday evenings after our Shabbat service. Please contact the Temple office at (260) 744-4245 to offer your assistance beginning this fall in maintaining this beautiful tradition. We rely on the generosity of our congregants to take a turn hosting an Oneg Shabbat. It's a great way to celebrate a birthday, anniversary, or special occasion – or try out a new recipe. Thank you!

A DELIGHTFUL EVENING AT TWO EE'S WINE EXPERIENCE

Nearly 40 Temple members and friends gathered on July 14 at Two EE's Winery in Roanoke to learn about wine and to sample several delicious varieties. Thanks to Irv Adler for organizing the Wine Experience Fundraiser to benefit the Temple.

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

As we begin a new chapter with Rabbi Lenny as our spiritual leader, it is also important to recognize those individuals who have volunteered to serve on the Temple's Board of Trustees. Talia Bugel, Scott Goldberg, and Steve Carr are serving for the first time this year and Steve Zacher returns after a few years away. I look forward to working with each of them as we ensure that future generations have the opportunity to experience the benefits that the Temple provides in creating a Jewish community.

I also welcome back previous members of the Board: Betsy Gephart, Leonard Goldstein, Yoko Rudolph, Mike Rush, Kathy Sider, Ellen Tom, Elissa Cohen, Leah Hadashi, and Rich Manalis. These individuals have played a significant role in the Temple's past success and ensuring a bright future.

Last, but certainly not least, I'm pleased that Irv Adler, Beth Zweig and Ronnie Greenberg are continuing on the Executive Committee. Your successful leadership can be seen in the accomplishment achieved last year and the great opportunities on the horizon.

With that being said, there are still several opportunities for congregants to volunteer for the benefit of the Temple. Whether you'd like to serve on a committee, help organize an event, welcome congregants to services as an usher, or provide baked goods for an Oneg Shabbat, we have numerous opportunities to get involved. Not sure? Contact me or VP Programs Beth Zweig to discuss your interests.

If you look through the Bulletin, you'll see immediate needs include an Oneg Shabbat Coordinator and helpers to prepare a bulk mailing for our Corned Beef Fundraiser. Starting next month, we'll need volunteers for Thoughtful Thursdays and the new library.

It is crucial that we have this additional assistance to help the Temple continue to thrive and welcome so many through our doors. We have all received the benefit of time and treasure from prior generations – now is our turn. Please take advantage of the opportunity to get involved and do your part for the future.

If you see board members at Religious School, a Shabbat service, a fundraiser, or just walking through the Temple, please take a moment to thank them for their commitment to the betterment of the Temple. Volunteer is certainly rewarding, but there is also a time commitment. Please offer your help any way you can.
